

Name

Date

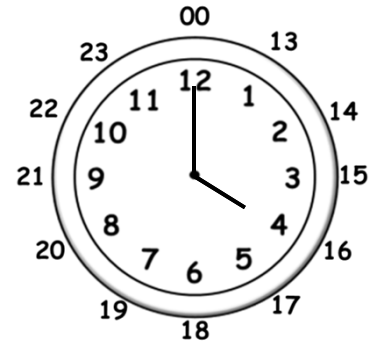

The 24 hour clock – o'clock times.

When using the 24 hour clock you don't need to write am (morning) or pm (afternoon).

Rules:

am From midnight until noon the 24 hour clock would be almost the same, just add a zero to the single digit times. Examples: 9:00am becomes 09:00 and 11:00 would be written as 11:00.

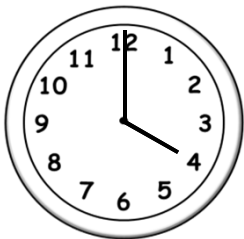

pm from noon until midnight continue counting past 12:00 (or add 12 to the pm time). Examples: 1:00pm becomes 13:00 and 11:00pm becomes 23:00.

Midnight is written as 00:00.

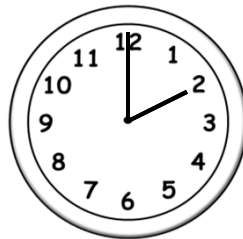

Write the following times shown on the clocks as they would be displayed on a 24 hour clock. The first question has already been completed.

am

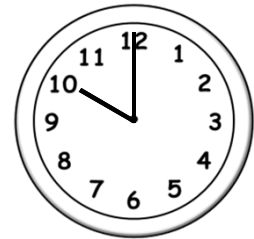

04:00

pm

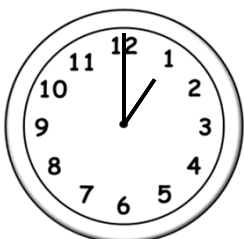

:

pm

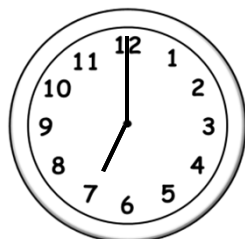

:

am

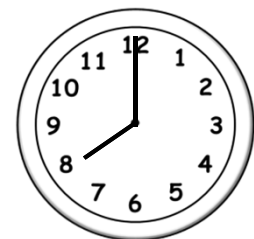

:

pm

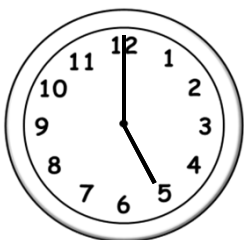

:

am

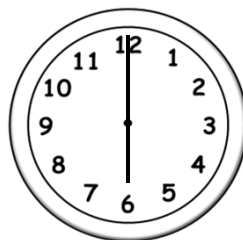

:

pm

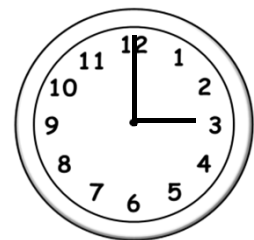

:

pm

:

am

:

Name

Date

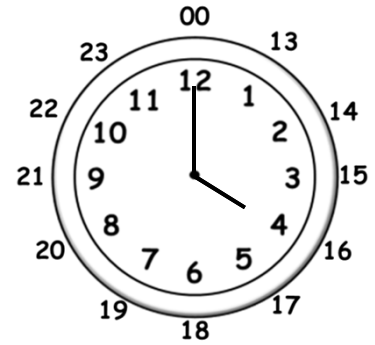

The 24 hour clock – o'clock times.

When using the 24 hour clock you don't need to write am (morning) or pm (afternoon).

Rules:

am From midnight until noon the 24 hour clock would be almost the same, just add a zero to the single digit times. Examples: 9:00am becomes 09:00 and 11:00 would be written as 11:00.

pm from noon until midnight continue counting past 12:00 (or add 12 to the pm time). Examples: 1:00pm becomes 13:00 and 11:00pm becomes 23:00.

Midnight is written as 00:00.

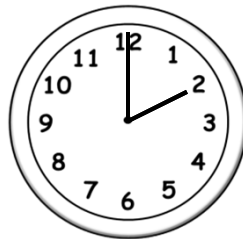

Write the following times shown on the clocks as they would be displayed on a 24 hour clock. The first question has already been completed. Answers

am

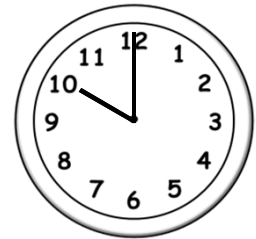

04:00

pm

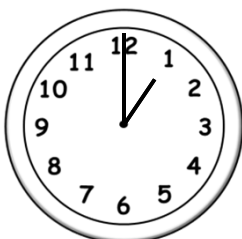

14:00

pm

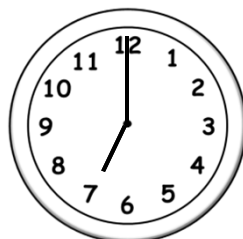

22:00

am

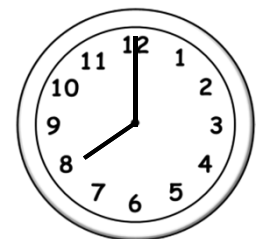

01:00

pm

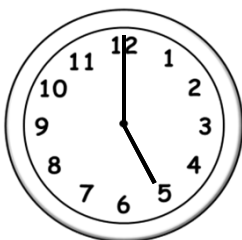

19:00

am

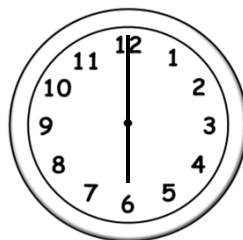

08:00

pm

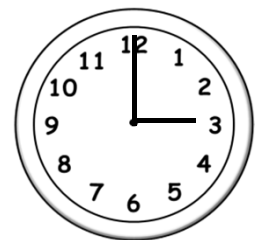

17:00

pm

18:00

am

03:00

Name

Date

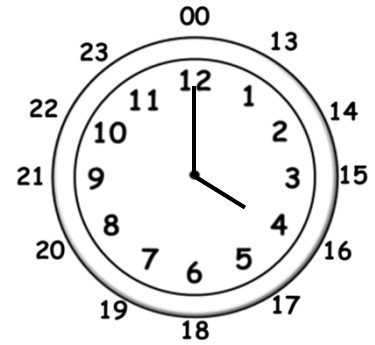

The 24 hour clock.

When using the 24 hour clock you don't need to write am (morning) or pm (afternoon).

Rules:

am From midnight until noon the 24 hour clock would be almost the same, just add a zero to the single digit times. Examples: 9:00am becomes 09:00 and 11:00 would be written as 11:00.

pm from noon until midnight continue counting past 12:00 (or add 12 to the pm time). Examples: 1:00pm becomes 13:00 and 11:00pm becomes 23:00.

Midnight is written as 00:00.

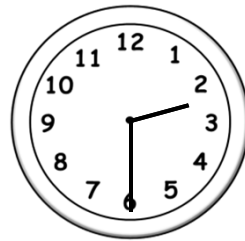

Write the following times shown on the clocks as they would be displayed on a 24 hour clock. The first question has already been completed.

am

04:05

pm

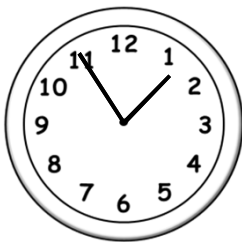

:

pm

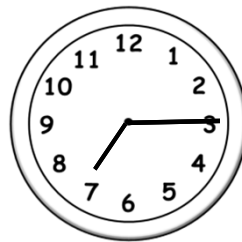

:

am

:

pm

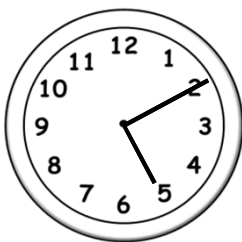

:

am

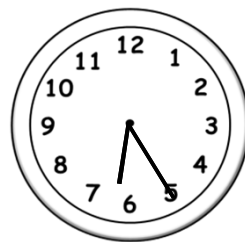

:

pm

:

pm

:

am

:

Name

Date

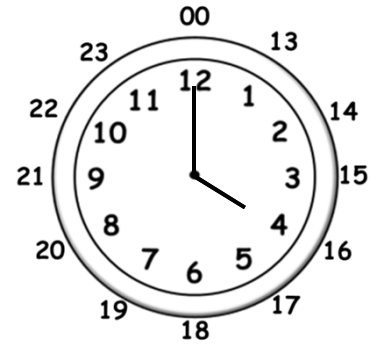

The 24 hour clock.

When using the 24 hour clock you don't need to write am (morning) or pm (afternoon).

Rules:

am From midnight until noon the 24 hour clock would be almost the same, just add a zero to the single digit times. Examples: 9:00am becomes 09:00 and 11:00 would be written as 11:00.

pm from noon until midnight continue counting past 12:00 (or add 12 to the pm time). Examples: 1:00pm becomes 13:00 and 11:00pm becomes 23:00.

Midnight is written as 00:00.

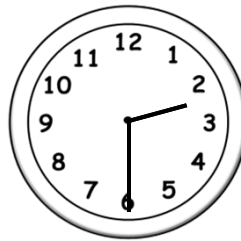

Write the following times shown on the clocks as they would be displayed on a 24 hour clock. The first question has already been completed.

am

04:05

pm

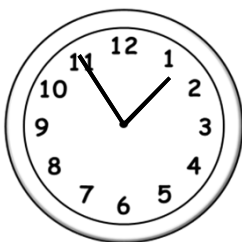

14:30

pm

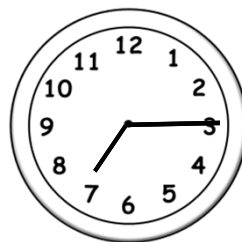

22:20

am

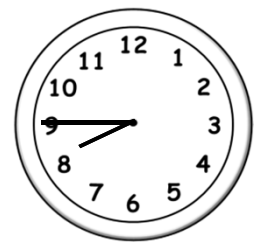

01:55

pm

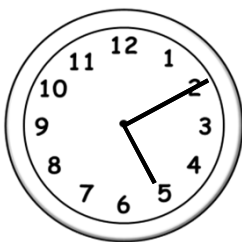

19:15

am

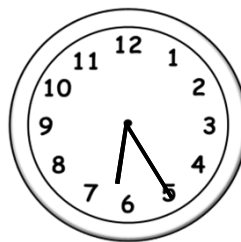

08:45

pm

17:10

pm

18:25

am

03:50